

Your adventure to Havana, Cuba will be here before you know it. Here are a few things you'll want to have ready before you set sail.

Your vacation checklist

- Passport — Required for all guests and must be valid for six months after your trip.
- Cuba Tourist Visa — Facilitated for all U.S. guests by Royal Caribbean at a cost of $75 per person. This fee will be added to your onboard account on Day 1 of the cruise. Non-U.S. citizens visit RoyalCaribbean.com/Cuba/FAQ for further instructions.
- Travel Affidavit — In accordance with U.S. law, all guests traveling to Cuba are required to complete a travel affidavit identifying the category of travel under which they are visiting. Be sure to bring two completed hard copies per guest to the port of Miami as it will be required during the embarkation process. To print out this document, visit RoyalCaribbean.com/Cuba/FAQ
- Shore Excursions — All tours offered by Royal Caribbean are designed to meet the requirements of permitted travel authorized by the U.S. government. Shore excursions have limited availability and must be reserved up to 48 hours prior to sailing through Cruise Planner at RoyalCaribbean.com/CruisePlanner
- What to Pack — Depending on the time of year, the intensity of the heat can be significant. Be sure to bring lightweight clothing. Shorts and tank tops are appropriate dress for restaurants and hotels.

For more information, visit RoyalCaribbean.com/Cuba/FAQ

